What is your overall opinion about this course?

11 Excellent 5 Good Satisfactory Poor Very poor

Please note your most positive experiences:

- I've met sociable colleagues and learnt much about writing projects
- it was the first time for me to attend the course of this type and my expectations have been realised. Trainers, themes...everything was very good and reasonable.
- in a very short time I've gained a lot of knowledge from practice, so the effect of what I've heard has been achieved
- new friendships and learning of the areas of work of other participants
- gaining new knowledge
- this course made me better understand Sendai Framework for DRR and gave me better perspective to recovery
- great dynamics in transfer of knowledge (interactive), quality lectures, chances to apply information heard (exercises), effective learning
- very comfortable, calm and knowledge soothing environment. Very professional facilitators, adaptable and flexible. I've learnt a lot. Time well spent with other colleagues from the group.
- cooperation between participants
- It was well coordinated. All participants were concerned with the course subject
- a lot of knowledge and information
- chance to meet and connect to people
- positive attitude of teachers/trainers
- a lot of beneficial information

Please note the most negative experiences, if any or what can be improved on:

- I don't have any negative experiences
- there's was no negative experience 😊
- a guided tour to be organised during daytime (Bled)
- it could be better to arrange a half day workshop on "project management"
- we'd need more free time for individual activities

Finally, please add any other comment/suggestion/recommendation that could be useful to improve the course:

- I'm not sure that it's enough to hold DRR course annually
- we need more than one course and more than two participants per country
- thank you for everything 😊
- many thanks to the whole group of trainers, as a participant with probably the least experiences I'd like to emphasize that everything was very interesting and educative. Maybe I should have participated at least one another course to make comparison. Thank you 😊
- for the purpose for which the course was organised the effect was maximal
- the course enables that each participant gains (new) knowledge from the area of DRR which can later be integrated into daily work and also into the efficient response to disasters
- the trainers are excellently prepared to deliver the themes of the course, they also have very pedagogical skills (dealing and adopting to different characters of participants), they fluently speak several languages, their way of teaching "attracts" the participant to such extent that he/she doesn't get lost in the theme. They are also distinguished by great patience and kindness and are very well harmonised as a team and as individuals they reflect extremely positive attitude for work and life in general. An excellent course that I'd recommend to anyone who is interested in this area of work or works in this area
- In general everything was very good. Thank you for everything. I didn't get bored despite the hours of lectures.
- I suggest to direct the overhead projector to the opposite side of the room because the way as it was set up during the course I was very much distracted by the beautiful view of Bled from the window
- the presentations should be more focused in examples of good practice in implementing Sendai Framework for DRR
- somehow "force" the institutions to send participants who understand English because we've lost time understanding each other
- combinations of activities from briefs to task group
- collaboration and combination of ideas, learning and abilities to present the best
- during this course we've learnt a lot about DPPI and SEE, which was important and interesting
- the course was very helpful, expressed terms of knowledge that we ought to use during our work
- recommendations: not to have more than 50 minutes long presentations, ask other participants to make presentations from their countries on last events and challenges

Thank you for your contribution!

We greatly appreciate your participation on the course and the time and effort you've taken to complete this evaluation form.
