Mountain Rescue Service of Serbia (MRS Serbia) is a voluntary and non-for-profit organization driven primarily by the cause of helping and rescuing endangered or injured people in rough alpine terrains and urban areas.

The primary task of MRS is to save human life and to help those in jeopardy.

Mountain Rescue Service of Serbia was founded in 1952.

Today, the MRS Serbia includes almost 250 licensed active rescuers.
Territorial organization of MRS of Serbia

- MRS has around 1000 members altogether, of which 250 are licensed active rescuers.

- Currently there are MRS stations in Belgrade, Niš, Novi Sad, Boljevac and Kruševac. While in other places MRS stations are in the process of forming.

- The process of MRS stations forming is time-consuming and requires great support from local governments and organizations in the form of tangible and intangible support for the implementation of rescuers training, for supplying stations with necessary equipment to perform rescue operations in different environments, finding places and vehicles for the MRS stations, etc.
Rescue operations domains

- Rescue in urban areas
- Rescue in general mountain conditions
- Vertical rock rescue
